

INDIAN JOURNAL OF APPLIED BASIC MEDICAL SCIENCES

AIM AND SCOPE OF JOURNAL

The aim of journal is focused on integration of Applied -Basic medical sciences i.e. subjects which are taught in medical and paramedical colleges by preclinical and clinical teachers. It is a FORUM for scientific communication among teachers of applied basic medical various of medical colleges of India. Data and information that are useful to investigators in various discipline in medical sciences especially in context to integration and communication. The journal is very good platform for integration of various medical subjects both horizontally and vertically as always emphasized by Medical council of India. This platform opens a scope for expanding horizon of integrated researches and research in medical education per se. It is observed by editorials that there is a genuine deficit in output channel of integrating applied basic medical sciences. And Indian journal of applied basic medical sciences provide a communication channel and is trying and aimed to fill this deficit.

Mission Statement

The aim of journal is focused on integration of Applied -Basic medical sciences i.e. subjects which are taught in medical and paramedical colleges by preclinical and clinical teachers. It is a FORUM for scientific communication among teachers of applied basic medical various of medical colleges of India.

Philosophy and Vision

The journal is very good platform for integration of various medical subjects both horizontally and vertically as always emphasized by Medical council of India. This platform opens a scope for expanding horizon of integrated researches and research in medical education per se.

